

RosterME — How to use it

User guide · Part A for all staff, Part B for administrators

Document	RosterME User Guide
Applies to	Part A: all staff. Part B: administrators only
Version	1.0
Effective	31 July 2026
Companion to	RosterME Policy and Procedure v1.0

Part A is everything you need as a member of staff. Part B is for Carla and Irene, who build the roster. If you are not an administrator you will not see the Admin tab, and nothing in Part B applies to you.

Part A — For everyone

A1. Signing in

Go to adminroster.vercel.app on your phone or computer.

Enter the workplace code mm and press Continue. You only do this the first time on a device.

Then choose your name from the list, and enter your 4-digit PIN. It signs you in the moment you type the fourth digit — there is no separate "go" button.

You stay signed in for 30 days on that device, so you will rarely do this more than once.

If you get it wrong five times the app locks you out for 10 minutes. Wait it out — it will start working again on its own.

If you have forgotten your PIN, ask Carla or Irene to reset it. Nobody can look your PIN up, so a reset is the only way back in.

A2. Put it on your phone's home screen

Worth doing. It then opens like any other app, full screen, without hunting for a browser tab.

- iPhone — open the site in Safari, tap Share, then Add to Home Screen.
- Android — open it in Chrome and tap Install when it offers, or find Install on this phone in the account menu.

A3. Reading your dashboard

This is the first screen after you sign in, and it is built to answer one question fast: am I working, and when?

Up next is the important part. It shows your next shift, how long until it starts, and where. If you are working right now it turns green and counts down to the end of your shift instead.

Below that, Shifts this week and Hours this week cover the Monday to Sunday week containing whichever day you have selected.

Tap any date in the calendar to see that day. A green dot under a date means you are working; a grey dot means somebody else is.

My shifts / Team roster switches between just your shifts and everyone's, so you can see who else is on.

On a computer the same information spreads across two columns:

Good morning, Carla

A4. Telling us when you can work

Keep this current. Carla and Irene build the roster against it, so if it is out of date you will get rostered at times that do not suit you.

Go to Availability.

My weekly availability

Mon	☒	08:00 AM	–	07:00 PM
Tue	☒	08:00 AM	–	07:00 PM
Wed	☒	08:00 AM	–	07:00 PM

Sun	☐	Not available

Use the switch to turn each day on or off, and set the hours you can work on the days you are available. Press Save availability when you are done — the button only appears once you have changed something.

A5. Asking for time off

Also on the Availability tab, below your weekly hours.

Admin

Enter the first and last day, add a reason if you want to, and press Request time off.

Pending is not approved. Your request sits in Carla's and Irene's queue until one of them reviews it. Do not book flights or make commitments until it says Approved. The app does not send you a notification, so check back.

A6. Swapping a shift

If you cannot work a shift, offer it to the team rather than arranging it privately — that way the roster stays correct.

To offer one of yours: find the shift on your dashboard and press Offer swap. Add a note explaining why if it helps someone decide.

To pick one up: go to the Offers tab and press Take this shift on anything under Open offers.

Taking a shift is not the end of it. An administrator still has to approve the swap. Until the offer reads Approved, the original person is still rostered and still responsible for the shift.

A7. Getting your shifts into your normal calendar

You can subscribe to your roster from Google Calendar, iPhone Calendar or Outlook, so your shifts sit alongside everything else in your life.

Availability tab → Calendar sync.

Sync to your calendar

Add your shifts to Google Calendar, Apple Calendar or Outlook. They stay up to date on their own — no need to re-add anything when the roster changes.

<https://qozhbbkylgwbhhlcjako>.

Copy link

- 1 Google Calendar (on a computer): Other calendars + → From URL → paste → Add calendar.
- 2 iPhone: Settings → Apps → Calendar → Accounts → Add Account → Other → Add Subscribed Calendar → paste.

ⓘ Google re-checks subscribed calendars on its own schedule — usually every several hours, and it can't be forced. Apple Calendar lets you set it to refresh hourly. For the live roster, this app is always current.

📅 Private to you · read-only · covers the next 6 months

Create a new link

Copy the link and follow the on-screen steps for your calendar app.

Two things to know. Google can take up to 24 hours to notice a change, so for anything last-minute the app is right and your calendar may not be. And your link is private — anyone who has it can see your roster, so do not forward or post it. If it ever gets out, press Reset link to kill it.

A8. Changing your PIN

Tap your initials in the top corner (or your name in the sidebar on a computer) → Change my PIN. Enter the new one twice.

Do this the first time you sign in, so the starting PIN you were given stops working.

Part B — For administrators

Carla and Irene only.

B1. How the roster fits together

Two things, and the difference matters:

- The weekly roster is the repeating pattern — "Debbie, Mondays, 8:00–1:00, Hope Island". Change it and every future week changes.
- Shifts are the individual dated occurrences generated from that pattern.

You edit the pattern, then press Build to generate the dated shifts from it.

B2. Choosing the week

Open the Admin tab. At the top:

WEEK ENDING
08/02/2026

Mon, 27 July → Sun, 2 Aug
Pick the week this roster is for. Day columns below show that week's dates.

Start fresh

Build 8 weeks from here

Set Week ending to the week you are working on. The day columns below then show that week's actual dates, so you are never guessing which Monday you are editing.

B3. Adding and editing shifts

The roster shows as a timeline by default — every shift on one hour axis, grouped by site. The strip under the clock shows how many people are on, and turns red where nobody is, which is the fastest way to spot a gap.

By day gives the same week as a list per day, which is easier for detailed editing.

Fill in:

- Staff member
- Repeats — Once for a single date, or Every week, Fortnightly or monthly. Choosing anything other than weekly or daily asks for a date to count from.
- Day of week and Time — the hours are totalled for you beside the times
- Location and Role

The editor will flag a shift that falls outside that person's stated availability, and will block two shifts starting at the same time for the same person. A flag is a warning you can save through; a block you cannot.

Neither check knows anything about the award. Meal breaks, minimum shift lengths and ordinary hours are still yours to get right — see §6.3 of the Policy and Procedure for the checklist.

Copy a day duplicates one day's shifts onto another. For a week that is much the same every day, this is far quicker than retyping.

B4. Generating the shifts

Press Build 8 weeks from here. This creates the dated shifts from the pattern for the next eight weeks.

Careful on a week you have already published. Building rebuilds those weeks from the pattern, so any one-off change you made directly to a shift in that range is lost. Approved swaps are kept. Per the policy this needs the Director's authorisation on an already-published week.

Start fresh deletes the entire weekly roster and all future shifts. There is no undo.

B5. Checking the week before you publish

Weekly hours balance compares what each person is rostered against their contracted hours.

Anyone well over or under is worth a second look before the roster goes out.

B6. Approving time off

Check whether the dates land on a week you have already rostered — if they do, sort out cover before you approve. Add a comment if it helps, then Approve or Deny. The person sees your comment.

This includes your own leave. Your requests go into the same queue and must be approved by the other administrator, not by you. Carla approves Irene's; Irene approves Carla's.

B7. Approving swaps

Offers tab → Awaiting approval. Before approving, check the person taking the shift is right for that role and site, and that it does not push them over their hours. Approving reassigns the shift immediately.

B8. Adding someone new

Admin tab → Staff → Add a staff member. You need their full name, a 4-digit starting PIN, and their contract hours per week.

Give them the starting PIN privately and tell them to change it when they first sign in.

When someone leaves, set them to Inactive rather than deleting them. Their access stops immediately and their past shifts stay on the record.

B9. Resetting a PIN

Admin tab → Staff → the person → set a new PIN. You cannot see their old one; nobody can. Hand the new one over privately.
